Truman Urges Cut in Taxes Of $5 Billion

Lower, Middle Income Groups Would Benefit By Ex-Chief's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman today proposed a $5 billion tax cut for low and middle income taxpayers to fight the economic recession. He also urged a big increase in government spending.

The former President who described himself as a "retired Missouri farmer" delivered a wide-ranging discourse on the current economic situation to the House Banking Committee.

He larded his views with peppy jabs at the Eisenhower administration. The country, Truman opined, would not be in the shape it is if the administration had taken quicker action.

He said he saw no need for periodic economic downturns and that both plans and policies of the government should be directed toward constantly expanding the economy.

"We might not be altogether successful in preventing economic downturns," Truman said, "but at least we can make that our goal and not try to brush recessions aside by pretending that they are a good thing."

IN ADDITION to a tax cut and higher spending, Truman urged immediate expansion of the unemployment compensation system and increased social security benefits.

He also backed a community public works bill providing $2 billion in loans to states and local communities, and an area redevelopment program to help create new jobs in areas of chronic unemployment.

Finally, Truman urged relief to small business through making available additional equity capital for small firms.

Truman said he thought the present recession is very serious, especially because it weakens the ability of the free nations to meet the economic dangers threatened by Russia.

Truman contended the tax structure should be changed both to provide more purchasing power after taxes and to take special privilege benefits out of the tax laws.

His proposed $5 billion tax cut for middle and low income families, Truman said, is the quickest way to put more spending power into the hands of the average American home.

Truman said such tax relief was also the "surest and safest way toward a balanced federal budget" because it would help restore maximum employment and help lift total national production.

TO OFFSET revenue losses from the tax reduction, Truman said Congress should close up what he called glaring tax loopholes. He said that could bring in about $2 billion in revenue now being lost.

Another $1 billion would be saved by eliminating some of the inequitable benefits to privileged groups in the present tax law, he said.

Truman also said that a lowering of the interest rates on government debt would save another $2 billion a year.

THE FORMER President's appearance before the Banking Committee provided a dramatic kickoff to five weeks of hearings on unemployment and ways to counter the business slump.

Congress was back from a 10-day Easter holiday to tackle problems of taxes, spending and a limp economy.

Truman, in town over the weekend, let it be known he was sympathetic to tax cuts for the lowest income groups, but not to the extent of providing benefits "to the rich who can afford to pay."

There was evidence of stiffening resistance by the Eisenhower administration to some of the public works proposals being advanced by Democrats.

These include both House and Senate bills to provide up to $2½ billion in low-interest federal loans for local public works projects.

Jet Plane Fails To Complete Trip

WESTOVER, Mass. (AP)—Lack of tail winds has forced a huge jet tanker to abandon its attempt to set a nonstop record from Yokota, Japan, to Madrid, Spain.

The four-engine Stratofortress tanker plane set down at Westover Sunday after streaking 7,000 miles. The plane carried enough fuel for a 10,000-mile flight, but favorable jet stream winds were needed to push it to 11,487 miles to Madrid.

Route 35 Improvement Program In County May Cost $560,000

More detailed plans for widening and resurfacing a portion of U. S. Route 35 in Fayette County were announced Monday by the Ohio Department of Highways.

Construction will begin just east of the town of West Lancaster, and continue southeastward for nearly six miles toward Washington C. H. Estimated cost of the project is $560,000.

The existing 20 foot pavement will be widened to 24 feet, and resurfaced with asphaltic concrete. A new bridge over Missouri Run is included in the project, and the present bridge over Sugar Creek is to be widened.

Traffic is to be maintained during the construction period.

Bids will be opened April 29 on this and nine other projects by the Department in Columbus. Total estimated cost of the 10 projects is $10.4 million.

U. S. Moons Now All Alone In Orbits Around World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Four made-in-America artificial moons are still in orbit today. No Soviet satellites remain in outer space.

Sputnik II apparently broke apart Sunday and fell to earth. Sections of Russia's second artificial moon may have plunged into the jungles of Brazil.

Sputnik II was more than 40 feet long and was estimated by American scientists to weigh possibly several tons. At the time of the launching, the Soviets said it weighed half a ton but the Smithsonian sonian Observatory staff said this reference was to the weight of the dog and instruments.

The high points of the orbit was estimated at 1,056 miles.

One of the four American satellites in orbit, Vanguard, launched by the Navy March 17, is expected to stay aloft for possibly 100 years.

IT'S ABOUT as big as a grapefruit. Its height of 2,466 miles makes it the highest man-made moon yet launched.

Explorer III, another American satellite, is expected to have a life of only a few months because its orbit is so elliptical that it sweeps to within 116 miles of the earth from a high point of 1,563 miles.

The other two American "moons" are Explorer I and the final stage rocket of Vanguard.

A single sighting from Denver, Colo., indicated the heavy rocket motor of Sputnik II may have completed one more orbit than the lighter fuel tanks and instrument section.

The dog rocket was seen glowing like a hot poker from air friction over New England at 8:47 p. m., the Smithsonian said.

Eight minutes later it was reported in flames over the West Indies. If it continued a minute more, it would have been lost in Brazilian jungles.

Ousted Pastor Sprays Church With Shotgun

NEW YORK (AP)—Three hundred worshippers, including 100 children, were bowed in silent prayer in a Harlem church Sunday when the Rev. Moody Dunning, 54, their former pastor, entered.

"I'll kill everyone in the church; don't anybody move," Rev. Mr. Dunning shouted.

He drew back his clerical robe, police said, pulled out two shotguns which were suspended on twine hung around his neck and fired both, spraying the walls and ceiling with shotgun pellets.

Fragments of glass cut his left arm. Some members of the congregation pounced upon him while others ran for cover.

An off-duty policeman, Patrolman Joseph Robinson, walking by the Monumental Baptist Church, took the ex-pastor into custody. Police said he had a fully loaded .38-caliber revolver in a pocket.

Rev. Mr. Dunning was charged with felonious assault and illegal possession of weapons.

All he would say was, "It's my church."

The present pastor of the church, the Rev. Nelson C. Dukes, 40, said the congregation decided three years ago to let his predecessor go because of his age and because he refused to make changes and improvements that the parishioners wanted.

Xenia Mother Kills 3 Children

Churchwoman Held In Hammer Slayings

XENIA (AP)—A Xenia mother, described as "a lovable, church-going woman," will be charged today with the first-degree murder of her three children.

Patrolman Jack Thomas said he will issue three warrants charging that Mrs. Kathleen King, 36, used a hammer to crush the skulls of her daughter, Charlene, 5, and her sons, Donald, 3, and Brian, 2.

The children's father, Charles, 34, found the bodies early Sunday in the family's modest five-room home. Greene County Coroner Dr. H. C. Schick said the children were killed 14 to 18 hours before King found the bodies.

Mrs. King, who police say tried to commit suicide, is in a hospital here in fair condition.

Police have been unable to question her. She is unable to talk, apparently because her throat and mouth were burned by an oven-cleaning fluid she swallowed.

DR. SCHICK said she also attempted to cut her wrists, upper arms and throat. He termed the wounds superficial.

A neighbor, Mrs. Betty Marshall, who characterized Mrs. King as a lovable woman, also said she was a "doting mother, but a worry-wart."

Dr. Schick said Mrs. King had a history of emotional instability and had been given shock treatment at a private institution about a year ago.

Her husband, a 34-year-old postal employee told police he had left for work about 6:15 a. m. Saturday even though his wife asked him to remain at home for the day and had told him that "I'll kill the children and myself if you leave."

He said he returned to the house shortly after midnight Saturday and made the ghastly discovery. Mrs. King was lying on a bed in a bedroom, a blood-stained hammer on the floor beside her. Donald's body was in the kitchen and those of the other two children in another bedroom.

2 Granddads Complete 2,000-Mile Cruise

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Two grandfathers who said they wanted to get away from everything and relax were here today after a 2,000-mile sailboat cruise from Bay City, Mich.

Dr. Max McKay, 69, an optometrist, and Fred Newman, 73, an insurance agent, started the trip in October aboard the Escape, a 40-foot auxiliary sailboat.

They came to Florida by way of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, some canals and the Gulf.

Auto Collision Is Too Realistic

COVENTRY, R. I. (AP)—The Coventry Divil Defense Council put on a mock head-on auto crash.

Eight persons played their parts as the injured so realistically that several motorists, including a member of the Providence rescue squad, stopped to offer help.

The strike began Feb. 23. A main issue in the dispute was the union's reported insistence on a 6 per cent wage increase and the company's refusal to grant it.

Cops Use Tear Gas In OU Panty Raids

ATHENS (AP)—Municipal Judge John Newcomb today fined 12 students $25 and costs each for their part in a demonstration on the Ohio University campus here early today.

Police had to use tear gas to break up a milling jeering crowd of several hundred. Officers said they are considering filing charges against some other students.

Ohio highway patrol dispatcher Norman Van Nest said that during the course of Sunday night's demonstration male students staged panty raids on two girls' dormitories and an orange-throwing battle developed between students.

The oranges, together with milk bottles, eggs and strings of toilet paper were hurled in the direction of newspaper photographers and some 20 officers who tried to quell the mob. No one was hurt.

A university spokesman said that the panty raid didn't come off.

Van Nest said, however, that he understood several male students were able to gain entrance to the girls' dormitories after the coeds waved panties from the windows.

THE UNIVERSITY spokesman said he didn't know of any male students who got into the girls' dorms.

The tear gas was used as a last resort by city patrolmen at the main gate of the campus.

It scattered the horde of students, and the officers then were able to restore some semblance of order by early today.

Van Nest said the police had to use the tear gas. They couldn't get them (the students) broken up," he said. "For every one they'd throw in jail they'd get two

River Outing Yields Tragedy For 3 Youths

IRONTON (AP)—It was warm Sunday, the Ohio River was inviting and they had a flat-bottom boat and an outboard motor.

So when Elmer Johnson and Garland Hall saw the Dickerson brothers—Gene, 9, and Riley, 11—on the west bank, they decided to let them in on the fun.

But the fun was short-lived. All except Hall became apparent drowning victims.

Johnson, 19, and the Dickerson boys were from nearby South Point, Hall, 15, is from Ashland, Ky., on the other side of the river. After picking up the Dickersons, the older boys headed their boat back into main stream. Suddenly, the outboard quit.

The river is a little high right now, about 25 feet deep where the boat drifted. Suction created by the swirling current dragged the boat under some oil company barges lashed to shore.

Despite being dragged down, all four boys surfaced again. Hall was lucky. About 20 feet from the nearest barge, he was able to break the water's hold and swim to shore where Ohio highway patrolman J. M. Lutman pulled him in.

The others were not so lucky. Emergency crews began the long search for the apparent victims almost at once. Oil company crews moved the barges to help in possible recovery of the bodies.

to replace them on campus. They just couldn't get rid of them."

When it was over, some 30 students were locked up in Athens city jail. Others had their names taken to be charged later, Van Nest said.

The university spokesman said a campus policeman appeared on the scene and the students began throwing oranges at him.

City, county and state authorities were called in when the demonstration got out of hand. Shrubbery and small trees on campus were damaged, according to both university and patrol sources. But the university spokesman quoted Athens Police Chief Joseph B. Grogan as saying there was minimum damage.

Grand Jurors Study 8 Cases

Investigating Body Opens Deliberations

Eight charges against six defendants were scheduled for investigation when the April term grand jury went into session at 9 a. m. Monday.

The cases, all carried up from Municipal Court, involve:

Robert G. Rosendahl, 21, and Paul A. Kaelble, 19, both of Cincinnati and both charged with carrying concealed weapons; Leslie Ison, 32, Fairborn, forgery; George Hamlin, 32, Frankfort, charged with forgery and with passing a forged check; Richard L. Rhoads, 28, Greenfield, two charges of intent to defraud; Louis H. Rauschenberg, 35, Twin Rivers, Wis., forgery.

HAMLIN was arrested after he allegedly passed a bogus $10 check at a service station on Route 35 south. The check was signed "Wachman Iron and Metal Co."—the name of an existing Washington C. H. junk yard with which Hamlin had no connection.

Brought back from Columbus by sheriff's officers, Rhoads was arrested on a warrant filed by Jack Weiss, proprietor of Sons Bar & Grill, 207 E. Court St., who claimed fraud intent by check.

Fairborn police picked up Ison Jan. 15 after sheriff's officers dispatched a warrant filed by Charles Pensyl of the Pensyl Camera Shop, 231 E. Court St.

Kaelble and Rosendahl already have been jailed on breaking and entering charges filed in Cincinnati and thus would not be able to stand trial here until the completion of their sentences. They were arrested here for carrying concealed weapons, then turned over to Cincinnati authorities after they admitted a string of Hamilton County break-ins.

Rauschenberg was arrested April 4 on a warrant by Lawrence Sharrett of Sharrett Service Station in Jeffersonville. He is accused of writing a $50.20 check signed "E. J. Smith."

Eleven witnesses have been called to testify by County Prosecutor Rollo Marchant who is presenting the cases to the grand jury.

O. L. OHNSTAD was appointed foreman of that body. Other members are H. S. Bobo, Bruce King Jr., Mrs. Leone Butcher, William H. Hastings, Mrs. Nora Bentley, James Shoemaker, J. Price Neff, Rollo Gray, J. Franklin Patton, Mrs. Albert Vannorsdall, Mrs. Dora Evans, Mrs. Charles Funk, H. M. Blue and Mrs. Charlotte Willis.

The Rev. W. S. Alexander gave the invocation as the jury met. The charge was given by Judge John P. Case.

U.S. To Increase Satellite Firings

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said today the United States will be sending satellites and accurate missiles up in increasing numbers.

"They will have both military and scientific importance—neither is being overlooked in this great effort," Keating said in a speech prepared for the National Resources Conference conducted by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

"The capacities of the test centers are being expanded rapidly," he said. "Soon we shall be able to test as many as a thousand missiles a year at Cape Canaveral at the rate of three a day."

Dulles Hints West Big 3 OKs Parley

Powwow in Moscow Expected To Get Start This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that preparatory talks aiming at a summit meeting "may get started within a few days."

Dulles disclosed this in briefing about 200 editors and writers of the International Press Institute.

He said "extensive preparatory work" is urgently needed to establish a solid basis for any meeting by heads of government.

Dulles added that it is "quite illusory" to believe that world leaders could sit down and make meaningful decisions without prior detailed examination of problems by lower-ranking aides.

Dulles' remarks hinted strongly that the Western Big Three might agree to begin talks at an ambassadors' level Thursday in Moscow. The West, however, will almost certainly insist that these discussions leading to a summit conference be broadened more than Moscow proposed.

IN PARIS, reliable informants said the Atlantic Alliance agreed today to start talks with the Soviet Union in Moscow this week on a summit conference.

Approval was given at a session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council, composed of permanent representatives of the NATO powers, the informants said.

Delegates from the United States, Britain and France submitted their governments' proposed reply to the latest note from Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The Soviet position, as Khrushchev stated it, was that the envoys should only set the time and place for a meeting of the foreign ministers, without going into matters of substance.

The Western view is that the envoys should handle substantial issues, and schedule a foreign ministers' session only if the lower-level talks show progress on matters of substance.

The Western Big Three submitted their plan to their NATO allies before taking any action.

Dulles pledged that the United States "would rush into" any disarmament talks at any level, provided they gave hope of balanced

Trailer Blast Sends Doctor, 75, to Hospital

Spring bottled gas exploded, blowing out the whole side of a house trailer and inflicting second and third degree burns to Dr. Harper E. Brady, 75, Kalamazoo, Mich., here Sunday morning.

The blast occurred as Dr. Brady attempted to light a gas heater with a match at about 8 a. m. in the trailer he and his wife are occupying at the Mac Trailer and Tourist Court, 1025 Dayton Ave.

When firemen arrived on the scene, Dr. Brady was taken to the Fayette Memorial Hospital, for treatment. He was reported in fair condition there Monday with burns on face, arms, legs and abdomen. Mrs. Brady was not burned, but her hair was singed by the blast, which destroyed a wardrobe. No fire resulted.

THE FORCE of the gas explosion wrecked the right side of the trailer, but a damage within the house-on-wheels was largely confined to a clothes closet to which gas had seeped during the night. All window frames were bulged outward.

Mrs. Brady said Monday that an investigation revealed the gas control on the oven of the trailer's range was open about one-quarter inch and that it had been in that position all during the night. She said that she smelled fumes during the night, but did not suspect them to be from the fuel used in the trailer.

The Bradys expect to acquire another trailer and continue on their homeward journey from a seven-month stay in Florida, as soon as Dr. Brady is recovered.

A retired couple, they have travelled all over the U. S., Canada, and Mexico (58,000 miles is the record of their damaged trailer) for the past two years, according to Mrs. Brady.

Driver Breaks Utility Pole; Abandons Car

Four, Accidents
Investigated Here
Saturday, Sunday

Sheriff's officers here are still searching for the unknown motorist who apparently abandoned his car after running it off Route 35 south between 3 and 4 a. m. Monday. The auto was left astraddle a fence on the Otto Beoddy farm.

The auto sliced a utility pole in half before alighting on the fence. Power was knocked out in a few houses on Fairview Rd. for a few hours by the mishap.

Officers, who investigated after a passing motorist reported the mishap, found no trace of the driver. The auto, which had West Virginia plates, was impounded, and efforts were being made to determine the owner's name.

The mishap was one of four investigated in the city and county over the weekend. One person received minor injuries and one was arrested as a result of the mishaps. Two of the six vehicles involved were totally damaged.

Jane F. Dague, 44, of Columbus, was treated at the hospital for a back injury and cuts about the eye, and released, following a one-car accident on rain-slick Route 22 east at Johnson Rd. at 11:50 a. m. Saturday. Charles Calvin Barnes, 57, of Columbus was the driver of the totally wrecked car, which reportedly swerved to the right to avoid an oncoming auto in the wrong lane.

Rosalie Fern Cox, 33, of Route 5, was the driver of an auto which was involved in a collision at the intersection of Waterloo Rd. and Old Springfield Rd. at 10:50 a. m. Saturday. Ronnie Cox, 3, received a blow on the mouth in the accident that did not require treatment.

Clarence Cash, 33, of 801 S. North St., was the driver of the other auto, which reportedly was moving onto Waterloo Rd. when the collision occurred. According to Sheriff's deputies, Cash stated he did not see the oncoming Cox car. Mrs. Cox told officers the other vehicle ran into her, and forced her car into the ditch. Both vehicles had minor damage. Fence was damaged on the G. B. Vance farm.

Raymond G. Orner, 40, of 932 E. Temple St., was fined $5 and costs in Municipal Court Monday on a reckless driving charge rising out of a Saturday accident. Orner was westbound on Court St. about 3:40 p. m. when his auto hit the rear of a car driven by Oscar F. Straight, 66, Ashland, Ky. Damage was minor.

Pre-Summit Talk

reduction of the world's arms burden.

He said arms reduction is "exceedingly complicated" but that it would be possible to make some first-step agreement to control new, modern weapons.

DULLES mentioned specifically both intercontinental and intermediate-range missiles and diverting atomic-hydrogen materials from weapons stockpiles into peaceful uses.

Dulles said the Soviets have "rejected" President Eisenhower's proposal for strengthening the United Nations by limiting use of the veto. The secretary did not elaborate on this point.

Therefore, Dulles said, the United States has no alternative but to seek to "organize" peace through collective defense alliances with other non-Communist countries, instead of relying on the U.N. as the peacemaker.

"We would infinitely prefer that it should be done through the United Nations," Dulles said.

Dulles said that although he is "not very optimistic" over prospects of strengthening the United Nations "we are not going to give up trying" to make it a dependable protector of peace.

Cancer Crusade Reports Will Be Made April 23

Most of the cancer crusaders took full advantage of Sunday's springlike weather to complete their house-to-house canvasses. Mrs. Byron Hinton, executive secretary of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society said Monday.

However, she explained, the degree of success of the crusade will not be known until the "report meeting" is held at Anderson's Drive-in Restaurant April 23.

Mrs. Hinton said a few scattered reports indicated that the crusaders had found many residents away Sunday afternoon and that call-backs would have to be made during the week.

Others, she said, reported to their ward and township chairmen that contributions to the fund for fighting cancer had been made at nearly every house where the door answered.

Detailed reports will be made at the April 23 report meeting by the chairmen, Mrs. Hinton said. She added: "And please say that everyone will pay for his own dinner... that won't come out of the cancer fund."

The goal of the crusade this year is $5,000 for Fayette County, the same as it was last year.

When the crusaders called for contributions, they left at each home material describing cancer and how it can be detected for early treatment.

Half of the money raised during the campaign remains here for treatment of cancer victims. The other half goes to the national organization for research.

Wohlhuter Wins Appellate Court Title Decision

16-Page Opinion
Reverses Trial
Judge in Litigation

The Second District Court of Appeals has ruled that Clarence E. Wohlhuter, Columbus, has an undivided one-third interest in three parcels of land, totaling 221 acres, which were once a part of a 280-acre tract owned by the late John B. McLean.

The 16-page Appellate Court opinion, now on file in Common Pleas Court here, reverses the decision of Fayette County Judge John P. Case who earlier had decided against the plaintiff in Wohlhuter's suit for partition and accounting.

The property involved adjoins the Fayette County Fairgrounds but excludes the 47-acre tract recently purchased by the Fair Board.

Wohlhuter, whose late wife, the former Flossie Scott, was a granddaughter of McLean, had brought three partition suits in connection with the three parcels — two of them against Earl Leroy Scott and others and one against Esther Scott Crone and others. They were tried together.

Wohlhuter appealed on questions of law from Judge Case's decision which held that Wohlhuter's wife's interest in the properties was extinguished with her death in 1931 and that the plaintiff could not therefore inherit title.

THE COURT OF APPEALS reversed the trial court's decision on grounds that Mrs. Wohlhuter's interest in the property had been validated by a previous court decision (Scott vs. Wilson) and was thus "res judicata" — a thing decided.

These three cases are among a series of lawsuits which began in 1917. The lands involved in these were all a part of the same acreage deeded by McLean in 1906 and will be held in separate wills executed in 1914 and 1915.

In 1935 it had been determined, by Judge Harry M. Rankin, that the 1906 deed had conveyed to Estella M. Scott, daughter of McLean, 280 acres for her lifetime and then to surviving heirs, and that the will of 1915 was inoperative to pass title to the 280 acres. This decision was reviewed and affirmed by the Court of Appeals in 1950.

WOHLHUTER claimed that his wife, a daughter of Estella M. Scott had an undivided interest which she willed to Wohlhuter at her death in 1931.

Judge Case pointed out that since Judge Rankin's decision of 1934 had not been reversed (and was thus "res judicata") it was conclusive in its finding that the 280 acres passed by the deed and not by will of McLean, and that Flossie Scott Wohlhuter, since she died many years before her mother, was not a heir of the body, (or surviving heir) of Estella M. Scott. And since she was not an heir of the body, her will was inoperative and did not pass any interest in the 280 acres to Wohlhuter.

This decision was contrary to the decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Scott against Wilson.

Red 'Thoughts'
Control Iron Arm

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio has claimed that Soviet scientists have made an artificial arm which is controlled by thoughts. Most artificial limbs are controlled by moving muscles.

"To perform any operation, it is enough to think the relevant movements, and the iron arm will carry them out," the broadcast said.

It explained the limb "is based on the use of bio-currents which arise in human muscles in response to commands proceeding from the brain" through the preserved parts of severed muscles. It is to be shown at the Brussels World Fair this month.

Lester H. Porter

JEFFERSONVILLE — Lester H. Porter, 51, was found dead in his home on Railroad St. here between 8 and 9 a. m. Sunday by Roy Wilson, a friend, and William Porter, a brother.

Wilson, missing Mr. Porter around the house, first went to see whether he was ill. He then called William Porter. When they found Lester Porter dead on the carpet in his living room, they called Sheriff Orland Hays and Dr. Hugh Payton, the county coroner.

Dr. Payton pronounced death had come from natural causes after he completed his investigation.

Lester Porter, who lived alone, had not been in the best of health recently, his friends said.

He was born in Jeffersonville and was a graduate of Jeffersonville High School. He had spent most of his life there, but had been employed for a time in Springfield before his retirement, because of his health, several years ago.

Besides his brother, William Porter, he is survived by two sisters Mrs. Losee Michael of Springfield and Mrs. James Cook of Rock Bridge in Hocking County.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Morrow Funeral Home by the Rev. C. R. Williamson, pastor of the Methodist Church here. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

Assault Defendant Fined on 2 Counts

A Washington C. H. man was fined on two charges — resisting arrest and disorderly conduct — in Municipal Court Monday, and his brother was found not guilty in an assault case. Two of the three charges were filed by the latter's wife.

Mrs. Evelyn L. Smith filed a warrant against her husband Delbert, 27, 102 Gibbs Ave., for assault, and also filed the disorderly conduct complaint against his brother, Hobert Jr., 21, of 336 East St. While Hobert was being booked at the police station, he reportedly ran out of the building, and subsequently was charged with the additional offense.

Hobert Smith pleaded not guilty to both charges, but was found guilty by the court. He paid a $10 and costs fine on the former charge, and $5 and costs for resisting arrest.

Delbert Smith pleaded not guilty to the assault charge and the case was dismissed when he was found not guilty by the court.

A charge of assault against Philip Brannon, 42, of 504 Gibbs Ave., filed by Rosa Brannon, was withdrawn upon payment of court costs at the request of the prosecuting witness.

The Richard E. Byrd Library, containing the books and mementoes of the noted polar explorer, is at Springfield, Va.

Driver Fined After Crash

Municipal Court
Traffic List Heavy

A Dayton man, arrested after a head-on collision one-half mile west of here on U. S. Route 35 Friday night, pleaded guilty to charges of reckless operation in Judge Max G. Dice's Municipal Court Monday. Alfred Henry, 24, was fined $50 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 60 days.

His driver's license was suspended for one year, with the exception stated that he may operate a motor vehicle during working hours if he complies with insurance requirements. Credit for three days in jail was given Garrison, since he had spent 18 hours there awaiting Municipal Court proceedings.

RECKLESS operation charges cost Raymond G. Orner, 40, 932 E. Temple St., and Robert B. Ernst, 30, 1119 Sycamore St., $5 and costs with the fine suspended, and $10 and costs, respectively. Orner pleaded not guilty, but Ernst entered a guilty plea.

When he pleaded not guilty, Jacob T. Ley, 30, Wilmington, was found guilty by the court and fined $15 and costs on the charge of illegally crossing the yellow line while passing on the highway.

Ten dollars and costs was the speeding fine levied against Ronald D. Vaughan, 18, Hillsboro, when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Bonds of $20 each were forfeited by George Harris, 26, Jeffersonville; George Studabaker, 20, Columbus; Jack Love, 41, Jackson, Mich.; Edward Ogren, 50, Derby, Conn.; and Frederick R. Parsons, 27, Ripley, W. Va., all charged with speeding.

Rhodes Claims Dems Off Base In O'Neill Rap

Mental Health 'Mess' Said Inherited from Previous Governor

COLUMBUS (AP)—A severe critic of Ohio mental health standards says Democrats are off base in blaming GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill for present conditions.

"Governor O'Neill's administration inherited a mess," avers state Auditor James A. Rhodes, a Republican whose job is not at stake in this year's election. The governor is seeking reelection.

O'Neill and his staff "are doing a forthright job in correcting administrative nonfeasance that covered years of neglect and indifference," Rhodes asserts.

The political assist surprised O'Neill, who has avoided criticism of former five-term Gov. Frank J. Lausche, a Democrat, although Republican state headquarters knew Rhodes' blast was in the making.

What apparently touched off Rhodes was a claim by Democrat Michael V. DiSalle, making a second bid to defeat O'Neill, that state mental patients are "shamefully cared for." DiSalle cited a recently published summary of examiners' reports critical of state hospital operations.

Rhodes said the newspaper summary presented the reports, dating back five years, in a way to make them appear current. They included some reports used in Rhodes' unsuccessful 1954 campaign to unseat Lausche as governor.

Rhodes asserts that disbelieving friends of Lausche generally ignored the reports then, but now are trying to fashion them into a necklace of millstones for O'Neill.

"Certain gubernatorial candidates, in criticizing Ohio's mental health program, are unfairly blaming the present administration for a lack of proper care," Rhodes says.

"For the past five years, since our examiners began reporting on the mental hospitals and institutions, attention has been consistently directed to many abuses and a lack of adequate treatment, facilities and personnel."

Despite improvement, "there is much to be done," he adds.

Rhodes recently raised a few eyebrows by cutting Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of mental health and correction, off the state payroll. The auditor said he acted to avoid being sued personally for any illegal salary payments following an attorney general's ruling that Haines was appointed illegally.

The ruling, requested by Rhodes, said O'Neill could not appoint a mental health director after the 1957 Legislature adjourned because that vacancy was not filled during the session so the Senate could act on confirmation.

Haines took a $500 cut in salary as head of Cincinnati's Longview State Hospital to accept the $18,000 a year post as mental health director. He is asking the Ohio Supreme Court to restore his pay. State Rep. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, son of the late U.S. Senator, is his counsel.

Some statehouse attorneys like Haines' prospects for winning his suit.

Rhodes, who is expected to seek reelection as auditor two years against Haines as an administrator. "I have no quarrel with the hence, says he has nothing against Haines as an administrator. 'I have no quarrel with the administrative director of our mental health program,'" he says.

"What is needed," he adds, "is concerted action, constant study and an awareness of the magnitude of the care, treatment and eventual rehabilitation of the mentally ill by every Ohio citizen."

"Instead of criticism, candidates would be better advised to offer and support a constructive program."

'His and Hers' Cast in Rehearsal

With opening night only two weeks away for the first production of the Community Players, rehearsals are now being put into high gear for "His and Hers," a three-act comedy that will be staged in the high school auditorium here April 28 and 29.

Mrs. Tom Gormley, the director, has been meeting with the cast to brief the players on the different scenes, which as the rehearsals progress, will be woven together for the play.

Latest briefing was for one of the many hilarious episodes in which eight of the 13-member cast takes part.

Mrs. Robert Green and Malcom Kelley, who have the leading roles, portray a play-writing team, whose marriage is destroyed by their unsuccessful efforts to write a Broadway hit.

Hal Summers plays the part of the harassed producer and confidant during their trials and tribulations. Mrs. Ned Abbott, his feminine counterpart, is their housekeeper and companion.

Dr. William Lawyer has a dual role — as Mrs. Green's lawyer and also as her morose suitor. He loses both cases.

Mrs. Barbara Bartling and Tom Gormley, as husband and wife take the parts of sister-in-law and brother-in-law of the confused couple.

"His and Hers" will be the first stage venture of the new Community Players group here. It is a fast-paced comedy, which originally starred Celeste Holm and Robert Preston.

Tickets are now available from any member of the cast, which also includes Mr. and Mrs. James Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Augen and Mrs. Robert Willis. The producer is Horace Jacobs.

Other members of the Community Players have behind-the-scenes parts in the production.

Tickets also are available at Patton's Book Store, Nichols Store and Risch's Drug Store.

Cargo-Transport Falls, 4 Airmen Are Killed

GEORGETOWN, Del. (AP)—Four airmen were killed Sunday in a huge A-1 Force C133 cargo-transport which crashed shortly after takeoff from Dover Air Base.

The turbo-prop craft was on a routine training mission when it was seen circling over Allendale State Forest 25 miles south of the Air Force base about 10 minutes after takeoff. Witnesses said the plane started a slow descent and that the pilot gunned the engines apparently trying to raise it.

This is how it works out: Spero's son, Carl, 28, gets 25 per cent of his father's stock, which constitutes 12 per cent of the company's total issue. The rest will be offered over a 10-year period to the employees, four of whom will have an option of specified amounts of stock, each of which is more considerable than Carl's.

Spero's philosophy doesn't stop there. One of the conditions of the stock turnover is that employees who come into stock must in turn pass on only 25 per cent of their holdings to heirs when their time comes, thus funneling back 75 per cent once again to the general employees' option.

The plan is an outgrowth of a retirement trust fund instituted 20 years ago by Spero with a gift of his own stock. The fund has grown to two-million-dollar proportions, and 225 employees in the firm's 26 midwestern offices now participate.

"How does Carl take it all?" "He's kind of an idealist too," the elder Spero said. "He understands because he's the same kind of philosopher."

Dem Governor Candidates Hold King-Size Press Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic candidates for governor had a king-sized press conference Sunday, and they had it all to themselves.

It was the annual spring luncheon of The Associated Press Society of Ohio (APSO).

Although Gov. C. William O'Neill and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, the Republican candidates, were invited, neither attended.

Six of the seven Democratic candidates were on hand, however, to address news executives of Associated Press member newspapers from throughout the state. The only Democratic candidate who couldn't make it was Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus who had car trouble upstate. An aide represented him.

While not in complete accord, the candidates did agree on several points:

Ohio's first four-year governor should be a Democrat.

The O'Neill administration has been "government by press agent."

A proposed constitutional amendment — called by some a right-to-work proposal — should not become law. It would ban the union shop in Ohio.

And jobless workers should be allowed to collect both state unemployment compensation and supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) at the same time.

Although candidates expressed some other similar ideas, there were some highly individual approaches to the state's problems in the 10-minute talk of each.

The man who was Democratic gubernatorial candidate in 1956, Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo, spent most of his time discussing the "Relationship of a Free Press with Government."

DiSalle asserted that Gov. O'Neill's 15 months in office have been a period of extensive press agency. Speaking of state government press releases, he said, "one thing you can be sure of in every one of their releases — O'Neill's name will not be left out."

DiSalle, a former Toledo mayor, and Mayors Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland and Sensenbrenner came under fire from Clingan Jackson, Youngstown newspaperman who is also a candidate.

In one of the few comments Sunday indicating intra-party friction, he criticized big city mayors for allegedly permitting a deal to reduce the amount of state money available for major highways outside cities.

Celebrezze and Mrs. Vivienne L. Suarez of Columbus disagreed on state income tax. Celebrezze opposed it as a replacement for the 3 per cent sales tax.

However, the general mood seemed to be reflected by Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County Engineer, who declared: "We are interested in fighting only the Republican candidates, not each other. We have good ground, because the people of Ohio in the last 15 months have suffered under a government of trial and error; mostly error."

A former Ohio Supreme Court Judge, Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati, called for immediate action by O'Neill.

"The present governor could end all this confusion very simply by (calling) a special session of the Legislature to legalize his illegal appointments and to pass a law legalizing SUB payments."

He apparently referred to the appointments of Dr. Robert Haines as director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction and the intended appointment of State Highway Chief Charles M. Noble.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe ruled that O'Neill could not properly appoint Haines or Noble after the Legislature adjourned, because the Legislature was in session when the vacancies existed and the Ohio Senate must confirm such appointments.

Substituting for Sensenbrenner, Columbus Finance Director Maurice D. Portman read statements issued by the court calling for improvement and expansion of certain services. He declared again Sensenbrenner's opposition to new state laws and the mayor's appeal for a limit on spending by candidates and campaign committee.

Gov. O'Neill declined the invitation to appear on grounds of previous commitments. Taft, who says he is a stand-by candidate only in case O'Neill's health forces him to withdraw, said he is making no campaign appearances.

The "Lord's Prayer Rock" stands near Bristol, Vt. It was inscribed in 1891 as a hint to profane teamsters urging their horses up a nearby hill.

Another Freedom of Importance To Us

In times like the present almost all of us in this country are more than ever aware of the priceless privilege of living in a nation such as ours.

In noting the problems and difficulties of many other lands, we become aware of the high value of the freedoms we enjoy, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom to elect the men who govern us, freedom to criticize these men and others when we think they are wrong.

Through all this however it is well to remember what so often has been said—"eternal vigilance is the price of liberty".

However, it becomes evident that there is another freedom, which no form of government, can give us. This is freedom from disease. Medical science may sometime free man from this bondage. It already has performed wonders.

All of us can help medical science in its constant effort to help us.

This month is Cancer Crusade month, a high point in the fight against America's

No. 2 killer.

Cancer is no respecter of persons or of privilege; it strikes the rich and the poor alike, the adult and the child, the man and the woman, the white and the black, people in every form of religion.

Yet, there is hope, because of the work financed by the American Cancer Society, that this dread disease may one day be completely eradicated. Through your contributions to the Cancer Crusade, you can help bring this day of freedom closer.

The work must go on, and it is largely through public contributions that it can continue. Vigilance against cancer must also be exercised eternally; exercised in a thousand research projects into the causes of the diseases; in thousands of other projects dedicated to early detection and treatment which have already resulted in the saving of thousands of lives.

You owe it to yourself and to humanity to help this work. Make your contribution now and make it as large as you can.

Spring Fever Grips Big City

NEW YORK (AP)—There are many days in Manhattan when a man feels his soul has the altitude of an African pygmy.

But the payoff days come in spring. Then everyone shrugs off his coat of winter morbidity, and the tallest skyscraper is only knee-high to his soaring mind.

On such a day, when spring fever grips the big city, it turns into a small town.

The rush slows to a walk. Folks quit shoving each other on the subway.

The harried bus driver calms his temper and crieth "Welcome!" to the passenger.

The angry cabbie ceaseth to unbraid the foolhardy pedestrian, and runneth over him not.

The old cop on the beat reaches up and fingers an opening leaf on a grimy tree, and wonders how it will be when he retires to Florida.

The young window washer, once a paratrooper in Korea, leans out lazily against his belt—44 floors over the ant-men below—and yawns at the clouds.

The sadness dies out of the voice of the guitar-playing blind beggar on Broadway. He sings a new tune, and passersby clink silver music into the cup that is his portable cash register.

Down on the East Side, matresses bloom on the fire escapes in their first spring airing. Lines of fresh laundry dance from one tenement wall to another.

Up in Central Park bums drowse on the benches under the statues of heroes. The statues look as if they would like to sit down and take it easy, too.

The wonder of living creeps into the heart of the office peasant. He yaweth at his desk, he dawdleth long at the water cooler, he wisheth it were champagne.

Distance lends enchantment, and everyone wishes the boss would become more enchanted by going home early. Duty no longer calls; it barely whispers.

Everyone wants to go out in the open air to find an apple tree in bloom to lie under and remember when he was young, and his love was too.

Just mass spring fever, turning people back into people again by the magic of April. It will pass. And that's the pity of it.

Economists and Dictatorships

Elliott V. Bell, editor and publisher of "Business Week," is an established economist who specializes in finance.

He has the unusual distinction among experts that he has done as he has preached, which means that he seems to be successful in life, something that most financial writers are not, they continuing to give advice to all the world but taking not even their own for themselves.

In addition, Elliott Bell has had quite a public career, being for many years the principal economic adviser to Thomas E. Dewey when he was governor of New York State. He was also the state superintendent of banks, an important position, rarely held by a man of such financial ability and knowledge.

Therefore it is only natural Bell should have something to say about the current depression: "... Neither the President nor anyone else is commander-in-chief of our economic defenses. We have a vast multiplicity of government intermediaries engaged in credit operations affecting the general economy—wholly without coordination. We have a diversity of private institutions engaged in major financial operations—entirely outside the discipline affecting the commercial banking system and in some cases—entirely without any discipline, even taxation."

This, of course, is a correct picture of the development of financial institutions and operations among a free people. It is characteristic of the competitive system that too many legal restrictions destroy competition and lead to government controls.

Bell comes up with the idea: "... Simple common sense indicates we ought at least to have some authority in government that would be responsible for thinking in terms of overall economic policy."

It is characteristic of our people that whenever times become troubled we think of dictators. For instance, there was the NRA and the OPA and a whole slew of such organizations.

Rent control did prevent landlords somewhat from robbing their tenants during housing shortages, but it also produced a shortage of housing which has not yet been corrected and public housing has barely scratched the surface of our needs.

On the other hand, had there been free competition, the likelihood is that slum clearance would have been as swift as the conversion of Park Avenue into an office building canyon has been.

We really face the same problem here that faces us concerning the reorganization of our Defense Department—a namely, even if there are experts, is it safe, in a free society, to entrust great powers to few men or to a single individual, not elected by the people, not subject to control by Congress? How long can we remain free under such conditions?

Economics can be simple and can be complex. Everybody practices economics. When you buy a newspaper take a ride on a bus, buy something on the installment plan or for cash, put money in the bank, write a check, do anything about buying, selling, spending, saving, taking wages, investing money, and so on, you are engaged in an economic activity.

And the likelihood is you know what you are doing. Levittown for instance, was not built by a theoretical economist, nor was Rockefeller Center. These are business enterprises, involving entrepreneurs, banks, insurance companies, contractors, engineers, architects, labor unions, etc. Each one is trying to make some money out of the deal.

Meanwhile the buildings go up; wealth has been created; jobs are made available; our competitive society moves on.

In the Soviet system, such free action is forbidden. The government and party determine what is to be done and practically that means that all questions become subject to political policy. Shall we build a house or make a rocket? Shall we clear a slum in Moscow or invest in the improvement of China?

The essence in any proposal for economic dictatorship is that Congress should clothe the President with authority to do what he constitutionally is forbidden to do. That is why the Supreme Court was forced to throw the NRA into the discard. It was unconstitutional.

To a degree, but not altogether, the present depression was triggered by excessive credit controls in an economy in which the credit system has become normalized to a degree that without its free flow, business must stop.

What we need to fear more than inflation is the socialization of our economic process by dictatorship.

A wedding reception in Prague, Czechoslovakia, broke up in a riot with the bridegroom and guests wielding knives, hatchets and spades. Probably started when someone made a cutting remark.

Apparently, when those people decide to stage a fight—they do it in spades!

We feel sorry for the bride—whose dreams of a tranquil marriage were so rudely Czechmated.

Costa Rica, we read, may disarm its army, sell all its armaments to buy farm implements. If some of that little nation's neighbors followed suit—what a bountiful crop of good will would result!

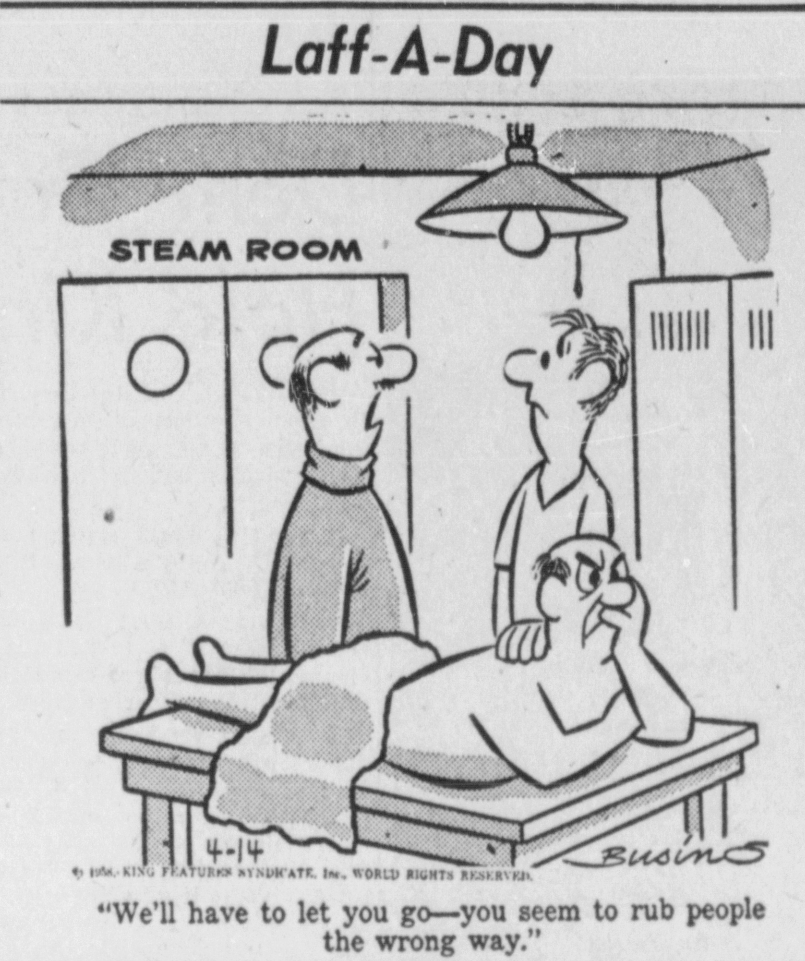

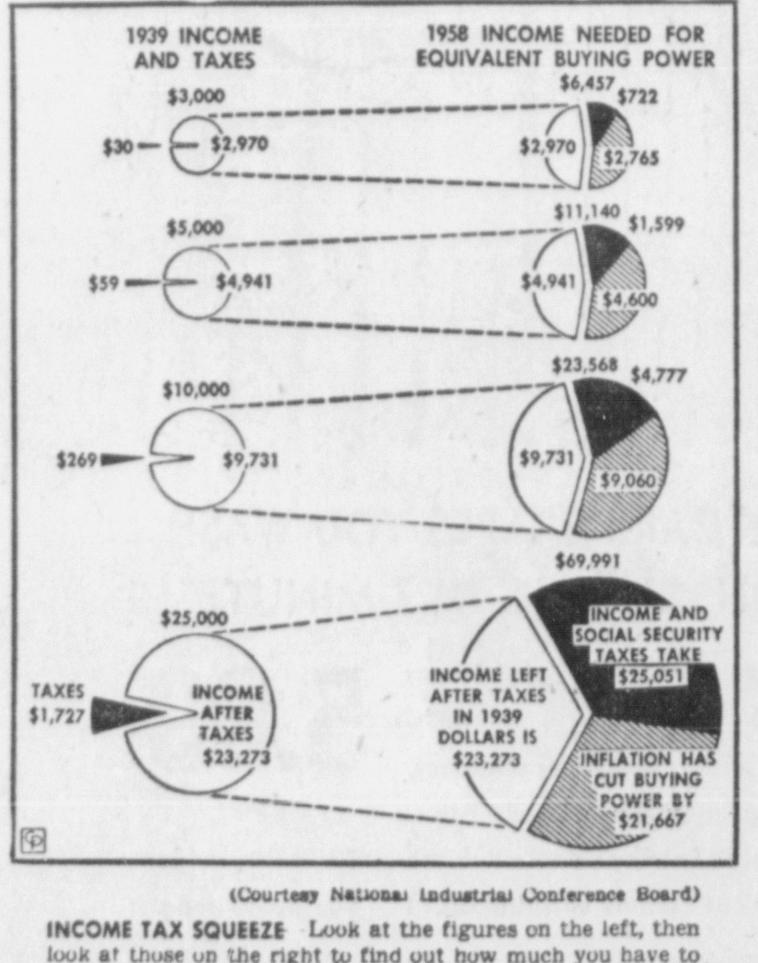

Now we have the two-tone spring hat for men. Just the ticket for those who can't decide whether they look best in brown or gray.

Diet and Health Still Long Way To Go To Conquer Cancer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERY day more than 100 American men, women and children are being saved from cancers that would have killed them just ten years ago.

Great strides. There's a purpose in my calling attention to the great strides we have made in the battle against cancer at this particular time.

The American Cancer Society this month embarked on a nationwide crusade to raise $30,000,000 to speed the day when cancer no longer will be a menace.

What Did You Get? Most of you, I know, have contributed to cancer research in the past. And perhaps you would like to know just what you got for your money.

That question is fairly easy to answer: the money you contributed to this great organization paid off in human lives.

While statistics generally are pretty boring, I think you will find these interesting—and heartening.

Other Categories Let's apply those 38,000 additional lives we save each year to other categories of fatalities.

For example, we could translate saving these lives as meaning the virtual elimination of motor vehicle deaths.

If we apply this number to other diseases, it would mean not a single death from polio, typhoid, tuberculosis, diphtheria, dysentery, syphilis, measles, whooping cough, meningococcal infections and all other infective and parasitic diseases. It would also eliminate diabetes as a cause of death.

Proud of Record Doctors used to be pretty proud of their record—saving one in every four cancer patients. Now we save one in every three! That's a total of 150,000 Americans saved from cancer each year.

Still, cancer kills approximately 250,000 persons every year. Eventually, it strikes two out of every three homes in America. It still is a big problem.

No Sure Cure We are making progress, but we have no sure cure, no preventative for cancer as yet. More research, more experimentation, more money is needed.

That's why I urge you to help the American Cancer Society to help you in its crusade to save lives. Who knows, the lives they help save may be yours or your loved ones.

QUESTION AND ANSWER R. W.: I have polyps in my nose, which cause difficulty in breathing. Is there any successful treatment besides surgery?

Answer: Surgical removal of polyps of the nose is the best treatment. This type of operation is simple and need not cause any great concern.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FRANK BOYDEN, Deerfield School headmaster, tells about a Southern rookie called up by the Philadelphia Nationals, who reported at the Polo Grounds. The manager said, "Sit next to me on the bench, and I'll point out the fine points of baseball as played in the majors."

In the second inning, the Phils had a fleet runner on first, when the next batter slashed a long single to right field. The Giants had the great Mel Ott patrolling that sector.

Noting that the runner was trying to go from first to third, Master Mel threw a bullet smack into the third baseman's mitt, and the runner was out sliding.

The manager told the rookie, "He was right to try for third. You won't see a play like that again in years."

In the eighth, the same runner was on first, the same batter singled to right, and the same Ott threw him out at third.

The Southern rookie shook his head and murmured, "Time sure does fly up heah in the North!"

Grandest of Grand Opera Offered Ohioans Next Week

CLEVELAND (AP)—From a one dollar seat in the balcony or a $10 seat at the footlights, Ohioans will be treated to the grandest of grand opera next week.

From April 21 to April 27 the Metropolitan Opera will present eight sparkling performances during the Northern Ohio opera Assn.'s festival at Public Hall.

The brief Cleveland opera season will be highlighted by three new productions:

"Eugene Onegin," the opening night opera, will be sung in English. The same opera with the same cast provided the premiere in the Metropolitan's New York season.

Tuesday night's newly styled presentation of "Madame Butterfly" has never been presented here.

A new production of Don Giovanni will be presented Saturday night.

Balcony seats are priced from $1 to $8. Some 838 seats will be available at $1, a price re-established this year.

Main floor seats in the dress circle (which does not require formal dress) are $10. Seats on the parquet—a ramp which rises from the main floor to balcony level—are priced at $4 to $10.

Advance sale of tickets has been brisk. Mail order and ticket agent sales out of town account for 40 per cent of the year's advance sale, said Vernon Stouffer, president of the opera association.

However, Stouffer added, advance sales have been distributed equally among the eight perform-

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph

Stalin looked like a bomb-thrower. Nikita Khrushchev looks like a short-order cook. But that's only one of the differences that make him dangerous to this country.

The three early Communists saints—Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky—had faces tense enough to scare babies. They had fanatic eyes. Khrushchev kisses babies. And you can hardly see the eyes in his fat, round face.

Stalin outlived Lenin and Trotsky but not their fanaticism. He became a symbol of what communism meant to millions: death and cruelty, and a willingness to sacrifice living generations for future generations.

There was something else he didn't outlive either: his own brand of isolationism. This was in part self-imposed and in part forced upon the Soviet Union by the big powers which hemmed her in.

Stalin's combination of isolationism and fanaticism—plus his own inflexibility—had two results:

1. He turned inward and concentrated on building the Soviet Union. In this he was amazingly successful, although at terrible cost in lives. He laid the foundations for the Soviet Union's present enormous power: in science, industry, education and armaments, including nuclear weapons.

2. There was nothing persuasive about Stalin. He relied on the only means he knew: naked force. As a result, Soviet Communist expansion was limited.

True, he seized the European satellites in World War II. He had to hold them by force. But when he tried force after the war—in the Berlin blockade, pressure on Greece, Turkey, Iran and war in Korea—he failed.

Instead of attracting his neighbors to Soviet communism, he drove them out of fear to seek the help and protection of the West. A drastic change was needed if communism was to expand.

It's no wonder Khrushchev

made the change after Stalin died. Basically there was no change, as Khrushchev demonstrated last week when he warned the satellites the Soviets would crush any anti-Communist revolution.

That should seem sufficient warning to all Soviet neighbors of what to expect if they go Communist. It probably won't. Khrushchev mixes his fast balls with slow curves.

He practices what Stalin refused to learn: if you can't move by force, try persuasion. He's doing it at home and abroad by adopting a policy of reasonableness, neighborliness and togetherness.

If Soviet influence is to spread, he must put an end to the tensions which Stalin created and which drove the non-Communist world westward.

When he calls for summit talks, more trade and an end to nuclear tests, he cannot help being persuasive to a world which wants peace and better living.

The more he eliminates tensions, the more he is bound to weaken to some degree the links this country has with other peoples who have depended on us for help and protection.

No wonder he's working at it. And no wonder he's having some success.

Volunteer Prison League Chief To Retire at Age 70

By TOM HENSHAW

AP Writer
Fifty-two years ago, 18-year-old Charles Brandon Booth took a temporary job as general secretary of the Volunteers of America's Prison League.

"I planned to stay only until they found someone else," he says. But that job lasted 10 years and next month Booth, now 70, is due to retire as commander of the whole VOA organization.

Gen. Booth was born into his work, even though he wasn't sure at first.

His grandparents, William and Catherine Booth, founded the Salvation Army in the London slums during the last century.

His father and mother, Ballington and Maud Booth, broke with the Army over organizational policies and founded the Volunteers of America in 1896.

Ballington Booth commanded the Volunteers from the organization's founding until his death in 1940 at 83. Then Maud Booth became commander. The job passed to her son at her death in 1948.

The current Gen. Booth will be the last of the family to hold the post. None of his children—two sons and a daughter—has gone into VOA work. Is he disappointed?

"No. One must have divine guidance to enter this work. The young should never be urged into a particular job or work. They should find their profession on their own bent."

Sons Richard and Weldon are engineers. Daughter Audrey is Mrs. Arthur E. Ueland of New Hyde Park, N.Y., wife of an importer.

Gen. Booth is looking forward to retirement. He feels it will help the Volunteers.

"It's wonderful that my successor will have an opportunity I never had. I did not become commander until I was 61. My successor will be in his 40s or 50s. He'll have 25 years of work ahead."

The general's successor will be

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet writer has suggested that too many Russian women are doing men's work, and vice versa.

Writing in the Literary Gazette, Vladimir Nemtsov recommended that the Labor Protection Division of Soviet Trade Unions determine whether labor managers are misusing female labor.

In many cases, Nemtsov said, women are assigned to such heavy jobs as lugging bricks, railway ties, and rails, while men are working in the kitchens.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

It seems the last yoke of oxen owned and used in Jefferson Township belonged to James Little, who lived in the Shady Grove community in the extreme northwest corner of Fayette County. His home was what is now the William Bentley farm.

That was a matter of 65 years ago, and there is at least one man still living who recalls seeing the oxen on the highway near Shady Grove.

That man is J. Franklin Patton, of Jeffersonville now 73 years of age who was a very small boy when he saw the animals being driven by Bill Webb (who was an expert at the job) while Patton and his mother were walking down the highway.

Franklin was wearing a red jacket at the time and when the oxen saw him they halted and seemed much excited. They would not proceed until Franklin walked behind his mother so the oxen could not see him. Then they proceeded down the road.

Oxen were used extensively in the earlier days in Fayette County, and were regarded as more than equal to a team of horses for heavy pulling, dragging logs to the logheap, and pulling high wheeled, narrow-tread wagons through the muddy roads.

I say "through" and not "over" because the wagons sometimes settled to the hubs in the muck of the main country roads.

OLD TOLL GATE

The old "Federal Road" which extended from Chillicothe northward to Springfield and beyond, crossed the eastern part of Fayette County, entering by means of a ford across North Fork of Paint Creek. It extended up what is now the White Rd., thence across present Route U. S. 22, and connected with what is now the Sergeant Rd., or Old Lexington Rd.

This early stagecoach route followed Route 38 to a point north of Ya esville and cut through to the South Solon community, then northward through South Charleston.

A toll gate formerly stood on what is now Route 70, a short distance south of South Charleston at the first bend in the road.

The toll gate was in operation for many years until other roads were improved and the Federal Road took its place among the many other highways of lesser importance.

In the early days at least three toll gates were located near the village of Washington — one nearly opposite the gate to the cemetery here and one east of the Mrs. Will Henkle residence on U. S. 22 immediately west of the city.

Another toll gate was on what is now Leesburg Ave., and was discontinued 100 years or more ago.

CAMP MEETINGS IN WOODS

For many years various tracts of woods in the county were used for religious meetings, and these "camp meetings" during the summer months sometimes lasted for several weeks.

Take for instance the famous Coil Camp Grounds on the Palmer, or Plymouth road, where religious services were held annually for a great many years until 65 or 70 years ago.

One of these old camp meeting grounds was also on the former James Little farm near Shady Grove, which is now owned by William Bentley.

This tract of timber, no longer standing so far as I have been able to learn, was used by a religious organization commonly called "Holy Rollers" at that time. It was in reality the Christian Union Church which stressed the "old time religion" and reached a large number of people who had not become affiliated with any other denominations.

Sometimes a thousand or more people attended the services, including a large number of the curious, but chiefly believers in the Christian Union faith.

At such gatherings it was a common sight to see several persons, during the height of their religious fervor, rolling on the s w or sawdust "trail" in front of the minister's stand.

The influence for good of such meetings was widespread throughout the communities in which they were held.

40 YEARS AGO

German forces were continuing their effort to break through British and American lines on the Western Front in France, but were repelled with heavy losses. Twenty-five train loads of wounded Germans were passing through one city daily headed for hospitals in Germany. The Germans claimed defeat of Americans on one front, but American reports announced the German attack was repulsed.

The Zeppelin plant in Germany was destroyed by fire. Crippled German soldiers were being recalled for front line duty. The British counter attacked with considerable success. Mission M was under heavy German shell fire.

Thirty-two additional Fayette County draftees were sent to Camp Sherman for training.

John Duncan, Rock Mills grocer, had a large Indian relic collection displayed in his store.

An ice jam during winter carried out most of the old dam at Rock Mills, and thus destroyed favorite fishing spot in Paint Creek.

Freight business in the nation was at an all time peak.

The annual horse sale was under way at the Sales Pavilion with several good race horses included in the offering.

Wallace Creamer died at the age of 99 years.

Farm laborers were very scarce and the demand for workmen on farms was heavy.

General Motors Closes 9 Plants for Week

DETROIT — General Motors closed nine of its Chevrolet Division manufacturing plants today for one week and will close nine assembly plants for a similar period next week.

The company said shutdowns were part of an effort to readjust production to new car inventories. Manufacturing plants closed today are at Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio, Buffalo and Tonawanda, N. Y., Bay City and Livonia and three at Flint.

Expanded Reporting On Science Is Urged

AKRON — The need for increased explanation of scientific matters in newspapers and magazines was stressed by Dr. Walter C. Kraatz, head of the Biology Department of the University of Akron, in a speech before the 67th annual banquet of the Ohio Academy of Science here.

Dr. Kraatz said the public, "benefitting by discoveries and gadgets of science," thinks it is following science. But in reality, he said, "there often is no understanding of scientific matters."

Spring Pickup Noted in Some Key Industries

Gloomy Recession Statistics Brightened By Isolated Ripples

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK — Amidst the welter of gloomy statistics on production and employment this week came welcome signs of a spring pickup in a few key lines.

Some examples: A ripple of activity in home building was presaged by a Washington report showing a sharp increase in the number of applications for FHA mortgage loans.

Edwin H. Mosler Jr., President of Mosler Safe Co., announced a five per cent rise in sales of safes and bank vaults. Said Mosler: "A great many signs exist that the recession may be slowing down and indeed it may be just about over."

The Du Pont Co. said nylon sales for March showed a 10 per cent increase over February and are still moving up. The reason: textile mills and other nylon users have stopped living off their inventories.

Purchasing Magazine said 66 per cent of the purchasing agents responding to a recent poll reported inventories of their companies in line with production schedules. This indicates, the magazine said, that "the inventory recession is at an end."

Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp. said it is selling three times as many cars equipped with air conditioning as it did at this time last year. International Swimming Pool Corp. reported sales of backyard pools up 150 per cent from 1957. Rambler Division of American Motors Corp. announced plans for a 10 per cent increase in production next week.

Latest statistics out of Washington hinted that the general business downturn—at some points, at least—might be running out of steam.

Although personal income and retail trade declined in March, the dip was much smaller than in previous months. Higher income of farmers and small businessmen helped offset a decline in salaries and wages.

Less favorable was a rise of 25,000 in the number of the nation's jobless—at a time when unemployment should be going down.

Sugar cane juice in the West Indies is boiled in enormous evaporators, some being the height of a four-story building.

New Tax Rule OKs Expenses Of Professionals' Education

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Education Assn. estimates a new federal income tax ruling could mean refunds of about $1,400,000 for Ohio teachers.

Claims for refunds, however, must be filed before the April 15 filing deadline for 1957 taxes, the OEA pointed out.

The new Treasury Department ruling permits teachers and other salaried professional employees to deduct from their taxable income the expenses incurred voluntarily for further education. The ruling is retroactive for four years.

Teachers who desire to claim credit for educational expenses for the tax year of 1954 must revise their income tax returns before midnight Tuesday (April 15).

Nationally, it has been estimated the tax ruling may mean close to $100 million in tax refunds for teachers. Ohio's teaching force represents about seven per cent of all U. S. teachers.

Congressman James G. Polk (D-Ohio) reports the new ruling, officially known as Treasury Dept. Regulation TD 6291, was dated April 5.

He said he was told that "expenditures made by a taxpayer for his education are deductible if they are for education undertaken primarily for the purpose of (1) maintaining or improving skills required in his employment or other trade or business or (2) meeting the express requirement of a taxpayer's employer, or the requirements of applicable law imposed as a condition to the retention by the taxpayer of his salary, status or employment."

Polk said this regulation allows teachers to deduct educational expenses under circumstances which previously were not deductible.

Polk said the new ruling is retroactive to the tax year 1954. He said that if individuals are unable to get proper forms for the deduction, they should write their district internal revenue director before the Tuesday midnight deadline stating they wish to make a claim for refund. This letter should include the amount of expenses claimed.

As soon as possible thereafter,

Columbus Presbyterian Meeting Attended by Local Women

The annual meeting of Columbus Presbyterian was held in the Overbrook Church, Columbus, Friday, beginning with a coffee hour at 9:15 a. m.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. by the president, Mrs. Ormond Dewey. Mrs. William Grashel, president of Overbrook, extended greetings to the 375 women in attendance. Special guests introduced were Mrs. W. Verne Buchanan, of New Philadelphia, president of Ohio Synodical; Mrs. Charles McAnall, president of Marion Presbyterian and the treasurer, Mrs. Harold Miller.

Worship was led by Mrs. Fred Moore, from Gahanna, followed by the highlights of the year's work, from the reports of the various departments.

The afternoon featured a talk by Mrs. Frederick Mars of Cedar Rapids, Ia., a member of the Board of Christian Education. This work covers many areas of concern, starting with the curriculum for all ages in the church school, through Youth Fellowship, into Westminster Foundations in the colleges. It offers scholarships to young people training for Christian Service and provides conferences for those at home and abroad.

A beautiful closing dedication for the 42 delegates from this Presbyterian, covering seven counties, was given by Mrs. Ernest Ramsey. Those in attendance from McNair Church were Mrs. Robert Hire and Mrs. Hazel Hidy.

'Program Topic 'Muscular Dystrophy' Heard by Professional Nurses Assn.

Mrs. Phillip C. Pratt, vice president of the Franklin County chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Assn., described the two classic types of dystrophy to the Fayette County Professional Nurses Assn. when it met in the hospital cafeteria for the April meeting.

Mrs. Pratt stated that the hypertrophic type is the most prevalent. This is the type with which the patient gains an abnormal amount of weight. The weight gain, together with loss of muscle tone and control, makes the care of these patients most difficult, she said.

The second type or atrophic dystrophy causes contractions of muscles resulting in marked deformity of most of the joints, Mrs. Pratt said.

Mrs. Pratt stressed that early diagnosis of muscular dystrophy is always difficult and explained that much is dependent on family history along with muscle biopsy and electromyography. There is no known cure for patients suffering from muscular dystrophy, she said but added that intensive research is continuing.

The disease usually develops between the age of 2 and 6, Mrs. Pratt said, although it may appear in early adult life.

Mrs. Pratt showed a film demonstrating the two classic types of dystrophy in children and means of rehabilitation for their short span of life.

The speaker said that there are 200,000 known cases of muscular dystrophy in the United States of America.

The business session, which followed, was conducted by Mrs. John Richards, president of the association.

Reports of committee chairmen working on the "May Day breakfast" were given. It was announced that there will be a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Samuel Douds, 920 Dayton Ave., at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. All members are urged to attend.

Proceeds from the breakfast are used as loan funds for girls in need of financial assistance entering schools of nursing.

Mrs. Eugene Ladrach reported for the recruitment committee, saying progress is being made on planning for the special spring programs including a day at the hospital.

This program is offered to junior and senior students of the county and city high schools.

It was announced that a donation is made to the hospital annually for needed equipment.

Mrs. Willard Sperry, representing a special committee for a joint meeting with officers of district 12 and the Ohio State Nurses Assn., extended an invitation to all graduate nurses to attend the meeting to be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the banquet room of the Hotel Washington. Nurses from Fairfield and Pickaway counties will attend the meeting also.

Baseball Season
Opens for Real
On Tuesday

Cincinnati, Cleveland
Both at Home for
First Games of Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With today's traditional Washington opener out of the way, major league baseball opens the 1958 season for real Tuesday.

The San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers, late of New York and Brooklyn, renew their long rivalry on rookie grounds in San Francisco as heroes of the National League's new West Coast outposts.

For the first time since 1951, neither the Giants nor the Dodgers will hoist a new National League pennant.

That honor belongs to Milwaukee, where the Braves will run up the NL bunting along with the world championship banner before taking on the Pittsburgh Pirates in County Stadium.

The full schedule, with expected attendance and 1957 pitching records, looks like this:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pittsburgh at Milwaukee 43,000
— Bob Friend (14-18) vs.
Brooks Lawrence (16-13).
Warren Spahn (21-11).
Philadelphia at Cincinnati 30,000
— Robin Roberts (10-22) vs.
Los Angeles at San Francisco
(22,000) Don Drysdale (17-9)
vs. Ruben Gomez (15-13).
Chicago at St. Louis (Night)
(19,000) — Jim Brosnan (5-5)
vs. Wilmer Mizell (8-10).

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York at Boston (25,000)—
Don Larsen (10-4) vs. Willard
Nixon (12-13).
Washington at Baltimore (27,000)—
Chuck Stobbs (8-20) vs.
Connel Johnson (14-11).
Detroit at Chicago (25,000) —
Jim Bunning (20-8) vs. Billy Pierce (20-12).
Kansas City at Cleveland (35,000)—
Ned Garver (6-13) vs.
Herb Score (2-1).
National League President Warren Giles will attend the Dodgers-Giants game.

In Cleveland, Score starts the trip back from that terrible eye injury of last season—a dreadful accident that almost ended what may be the most promising career in baseball.

Score, the 24-year-old, fire-balling southpaw; new manager Bobby Bragan, the guy who joked his way out of the National League;
and new general manager Frank Lane, the man who made contenders of the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, spearhead the Injuns' comeback bid in the AL. They finished sixth last year.

Spahn, the NL's only 20-game winner last season, will be going for his 225th victory, tops among active NL pitchers.

The New York Yankees are after their ninth American League pennant in the last 10 years.

Adult Volleyball
Program Set

Domenico Aiming
At Men over 25

Men over 25 will get a chance to show their talents on the volleyball court in a new community recreation project due to start Wednesday under the direction of Fred Domenico, Washington High School athletic director.

An evening of adult volleyball, with special emphasis on men over 25, will be staged "experimentally" Wednesday at the Washington High School gym for anyone who wants to participate.

"A number of people have said there is a need for a program like this," Domenico commented, saying: "We'll try it for a little while, and if there seems to be, we'll keep it going for the rest of the school year."

The only thing a participant need have to qualify is gym shoes—and he doesn't need them if he's willing to play in his stocking feet.
The high school will supply the gym, and Domenico will be on hand to make sure the sides stay reasonably even.

There will be no "teams", and no other organization of that sort.
Participants will merely join the team that has the least men when they arrive.

The program will run from 8 p.
m. to 10 p. m. this Wednesday, Domenico emphasized "there is no requirement that anyone stay the whole time"; if someone has just half an hour to spare, he can come for the half hour and then leave.

Men under 25 are expected to show up "and certainly they'll be

Hawks Win
Pro Cage Title
From Celtics

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Coach Alex Han-num of the St. Louis Hawks and the Hawks' owner Ben Kerner didn't always see eye-to-eye during this season. But with the National Basketball Assn. title tucked safely away Hannum can have his job back next year if he wants it.

The Hawks clinched the title with a 110-109 defeat of the Boston Celtics Saturday night.

The two men created considerable discussion in basketball circles this year when they had a violent disagreement about how the team should be handled.

But today Kerner said the Hawks coaching job was "Han-num's for the asking." Kerner said a contract would be discussed in the next 30 days.

Hawk Jack McMahon summed up the team's attitude Saturday with "God bless Bob Pettit."

The lanky Pettit pitched in 50 points and tied an NBA tournament record.

Even with Pettit's exceptional performance, Coach Hannum called winning the crown a team effort.

"The more I think about it, the more that game typified the solid team spirit, the cooperation that was behind its success for two years," Hannum said.

Slater Martin guarded Celtic star Bob Cousy so well that Cousy was held to 15 points.

Changing The Subject

By JACK AYER

THE SECOND SEASON

Dear to our hearts -- dearer, almost, sometimes, than home and family -- is the Ohio State University football team, all the way from C-deck to third string tackle. In some moods, even, we must admit, we look upon the baseball season as one long parched desert separating football from football.

Thus, we were gladdened to the marrow last week to get word that the OSU grid squad is back in spring practice -- it makes us feel at home, at the very least.

Thinking of the football squad, we thought, naturally, of Washington High School's own Dick Anders (Carl Smith fans please forgive us for today). We haven't anything about Dick lately, and we must admit there's a chance he's not even with the OSU gridsters this spring.

BUT WE suspect he is -- rather strongly, in fact, considering some of the rave notices he drew from the OSU public relations desk last fall. He was cited at that time as the "most improved sophomore," and lauded for his determination. Dick, who made second-string All-Ohio while playing for WHS, knows well enough that he'll have trouble becoming a first-string Big Ten lineman at his weight. But if "determination" is good for anything, he may be in there yet.

As to the rest of the squad, we note rather smugly that OSU, top team in the Associated Press football poll last fall, has a hold-over backfield that should send other coaches quailing into the gutter right now. Frank Kremblas, Don Clark, Dick LeBeau, and the sophomore wonder, Bob White, all are working out with the squad this spring.

Number one task on the OSU task this spring, of course, will be replacing Aurelius Thomas, an All-American, and Bill Jobko, the team's most valuable player. We'd rather have to replace them, though, then never to have had them.

Youngstown Cage Pilot OKs Loyola

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Loyola University of the South has named Henry Kuzma, whose basketball teams at Steubenville College have compiled a 95-19 record, head basketball coach.

The 30-year-old Kuzma replaces Jim Harding, who resigned at the end of last season after leading Loyola to a 16-9 record and a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Kuzma, a graduate of Duquesne, had been at Steubenville four years. His team last season won 24 and lost one.

Ike Opens
'58 Baseball
Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, an old ballplayer himself, went out to Griffith Stadium today to make the pitch that launches another baseball season.

Following a custom established in the heyday of Mathewson and Cobb, he will toss out the first ball as the Washington Senators meet the Boston Red Sox.

Close to 28,000 fans are expected for the 1958 debut of major league baseball. The game is the only one scheduled today. Other clubs start Tuesday.

Eisenhower, who played semi-pro ball one summer as a youth, will be making his sixth pitch as a President.

After he performs, Washington's Pedro Ramos and Boston's Frank Sullivan will get down to the real business of pitching. Like Eisenhower, both are right-handers.

Cincy Red Players
Confident, Cautious

CINCINNATI (AP)—Unlike some earlier years, Cincinnati Redleg players are making no predictions about where the team will finish this season. They're confident but cautious.

Catcher Ed Bailey said Sunday
"I don't know where we'll finish, but we have improved. Some of the power is gone, but... we've added some buys and things that give us balance."

Frankie Robinson, best Redleg hitter in 1957, said, "No predictions, but the winter leals (mainly for pitchers) have helped us."

Stokes Showing
Some Improvement

CINCINNATI (AP)—Maurice Stokes, husky pro basketball star shows some improvement in his recovery from a severe attack of sleeping sickness.

That's the report at St. Elizabeth Hospital in nearby Covington, Ky., where Stokes' condition Sunday was listed as fair.

BY RAY BRANDENBURG

At our Fair Board meeting last week we were very sorry to lose two of our members by resignation. Geo. Steen has been a hard working conscientious and civic minded member of our board since its reorganization in 1935. His counsel and good judgment over the past years has been a great asset to our board. George's great love for horses made him a natural as chairman of the speed committee and it was primarily due to his efforts that our Fair has always had an outstanding race program. So George we want to say thanks with all the sincerity we possess. We on the board will miss you and we all wish you the best of luck in your future home and an early recovery for Mrs. Steen.

Dick Babb has also made an excellent Fair Board member. As Supt. of the Swine Department, his leadership and organizational ability has been outstanding. Dick we wish you all the success possible in your future endeavors.

Spring is rather slow but just be patient. The green grass peeping up and the budding trees are sure indications that it's just around the corner. Went down to the farm the other day to look at the Herefords. About a dozen cows with their calves were lying on a gently sloping hillside basking in the sun. If there is a prettier and more peaceful sight than this, I want to see it.

Then it's also a restful ride down to the farm in a new Chevrolet or Buick. Just puts you in the right frame of mind to enjoy yourself when you get there.

Why not come out to Brandenburg's and let us take you a ride just to prove our statement. Then we'll offer you our "spectacular April trade."

The little girl rushed into the room where her mother was entertaining her bridge club. "Come quick," she shouted, a strange man is in the kitchen kissing the maid, "good heavens," said the mother jumping up, "April Fool!" the girl laughed, "it's no stranger, it's only Daddy."

Film Firm Chief Raps Sale of Movies to TV

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Selling full-length motion pictures to television was a tragic mistake, says Spyros P. Skouras.

Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox, said Sunday night that the motion picture industry suffered irrevocably after releasing films to TV. He pleaded that pictures made after 1948 not be sold to the rival medium.

"It was a tragic mistake to sell films to television," he said, "and we must not make the same mistake again."

Promotion Drives Underway To Boom Sale of New Cars

DETROIT — New car sales reportedly are improving but prospects for even a five-million unit year in 1958 are anything but bright.

In most instances sales are running far behind those of comparable 1957.

Most recent authoritative figures show 715,512 cars were sold during January-February this year. That was more than 160,000 behind the total in last year's like period.

Figures for March have not been tabulated but the total will be far below March of 1957. The 572,917 deliveries recorded during that month last year provided a first-quarter total of 1,449,000 sales.

Apparently unseasonable weather figured in the January-March sales picture. Deliveries moved up slightly during the latter part of February, but turned down again early in March. The downturn was attributed chiefly to blizzard conditions over much of the East, the industry's major market.

The industry is pushing hard to stimulate demand. Management teams are visiting dealers throughout the country; extraordinary promotional efforts are being made; executives are making optimistic long-range forecasts, attempting to stimulate confidence.

The promotional drives reportedly have met with considerable success. Some less optimistic analysts say the drives merely borrow from the market of months ahead. That reasoning, of course, could be applied to most sales drives.

Industry economists say the drives will aid in restoring confidence. There are others, too, who say agreement on new wage contracts in the industry — without a serious work stoppage — also would help to ease uncertainty.

Inventory figures for April 1 probably will show dealer stocks still near the 900,000 unit mark. That's more than the industry normally needs for two months' retail operations. Production will not regain anywhere near normal levels until inventories have been reduced further.

Children's Home Heating Plant Bids To Be Taken

Commissioners Order Necessary Steps To Replace System

Sealed bids are to be received at the Courthouse office of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners before 11 a. m., Monday, May 19, for a change in the heating system for the Fayette County Children's Home.

Following recent discussions between the commissioners and members of the Fayette County Child Welfare Board, which is in charge of the Children's Home, it was agreed that some action should be taken at once for improving the heating system which has been a cause of trouble during the past several years.

If satisfactory bids are received it is expected that a contract may be awarded so that whatever changes are made may be completed during the early summer.

A RESOLUTION was passed Monday by the commissioners calling for proposals for "all labor and material necessary for alterations and additions to the heating plant, according to drawings and specifications dated April 14, prepared by Robert S. Curl and Associates, consulting engineers of Columbus".

Instructions to bidders, drawings and specifications for the work are on file and may be obtained by prospective bidders from the offices of the consulting engineers at 1309 East Broad St., Columbus.

The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Robert Curl spent considerable time here Monday with the commissioners going over the plans proposed. He stated his firm had made a complete survey of heating facilities and needs at the Children's Home within recent weeks.

Other matters before the commission Monday were approval of bills and routine.

3 WHS Students Receive Awards At Science Fair

Mary Ann Hackett, a senior, received the superior rating on her physics project exhibit.

Peter Hayes, a sophomore, received an excellent rating on his biology project and John Brubaker, a freshman, also received an excellent for his general science exhibit.

Harry Winters is the physics teacher, Charles Glover the biology teacher and Denzil Leggett the general science teacher.

The three WHS students earned the right to enter the state competition at Akron through the superior ratings they received on their projects in the district competition two weeks ago at Wittenberg College in Springfield.

All three of the students who entered the state competition received certificates of achievements and Miss Hackett, who received superior in both the district and state, is in line for a possible college scholarship, Kaye Blosser, WHS principal said.

An Extension Service meeting on "Roughage and the Dairy Cow", open to any interested Fayette Countyman, will be held Tuesday 8 p. m. in the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium, Phil Grover, associate county agent, announced today.

Dr. Gordon Ryder and Charles Blackman, extension specialists from Ohio State University, will serve as resource people on the program.

Dr. Ryder will discuss the establishment of a good meadow and the harvesting of roughage. Blackman will lead a discussion on "How To Get the Most Benefit from Roughages," with special emphasis on conversion into milk through the dairy cow.

A farmer who has problems with establishing a meadow or making good hay and silage is invited to bring his questions to the meeting, Grover said. Dairy feeding questions will also be answered.

More than four million Africans are crowded into the Belgian colony of Ruanda - Urundi, a slice of Africa only slightly larger than the state of Maine.

Little Big Inch Rates Lowered

Texas Eastern Corp. Posts New Tariffs

Petroleum products shippers will soon be able to realize savings of from 5 to 15 cents a barrel on Gulf Coast; Ark-La-Tex and southern Oklahoma shipments being sent through the Little Big Inch petroleum products system into the Midwest, according to Millard K. Neptune, executive vice president of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., owner of the Little Big Inch system which crosses Fayette County, four miles north of Washington C. H.

The new rates are scheduled to go into effect on May 5 and will remain effective until, during the remainder of 1958, Neptune said.

The new tariff covers shipments through Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch petroleum products system and the Oklahoma Mississippi River Products Line, Inc., through its interconnection with the Little Big Inch at McRay, Ark.

THE LITTLE BIG INCH will continue to offer service with transit times of approximately three weeks from the Gulf to Chicago and Cincinnati, for which the regular tariff rates will apply. Where movements are scheduled 60, 90 or 120 days in advance, they will enjoy rates which are approximately 10, 20 or 30 per cent lower, respectively, than the normal rates.

Under the new schedule of rates, a shipment originating at Baytown, Texas, destined for delivery at Chicago, on the 120 day advance schedule will cost the shipper 35 cents for a standard 42-gallon barrel. This is a reduction of 15 cents a barrel or 30 per cent from the regular rate of 50 cents, Neptune said.

If the shipment is schedule for delivery within 60 days of the tender date then the charge will be 45 cents per barrel or a reduction of five cents. Similar reductions apply between other points, he added.

Shipments at a savings can also be made to other destination points along the route of the Little Big Inch system such as Cape Girardeau, Mo., North Little Rock, Ark., Lebanon, Ohio; Indianapolis and Princeton, Ind.

TEXAS EASTERN's Little Big Inch system is a common carrier pipeline equipped to handle the full range of clean petroleum products including furnace oils, jet and tractor fuels, aviation and automotive gasolines, and liquefied petroleum gases (butane and propane).

The Little Big Inch system extends more than 1,700 miles across the central United States forming a common carrier pipeline link between the extensive refining areas of the Gulf Coast and the constantly growing Midwestern market for petroleum products. Through interconnection with the OMR pipeline the services of the company's facilities are extended to shippers in southern Oklahoma.

Miss Brenda Dorn Rated No. 1 Again

For the sixth time, Miss Brenda Ruth Dorn of Sedalia has been rated No. 1 in vocal competition.

She came away from county and district competitions with the top rating five times and then received the sixth in the state competition at the Music Educators National Conference at Bexley High School Saturday.

Judges from the Ohio Music Education Assn., in filling out Miss Dorn's score sheet, noted: "Very mature voice for a high school student;" "You have a fine voice teacher and a superior voice;" and "Placement good and fine breath control."

Mrs. W. Stanley Paxson of Washington C. H. is her voice teacher. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dorn of Sedalia, Miss Dorn already has been recommended for a scholarship in Ohio State University's school of music.

Indicted Men May Not Be Charged Here

Sheriff Orland Hays said Monday he will not file charges against five men arrested by Greene County officers for a series of break-ins and burglaries in Fayette, Clinton, Highland and Greene counties, if they are convicted and sentenced in Greene County. The Fayette County breaks were committed Dec. 21 and 24, 1957, and again on Feb. 22, of this year.

Two juveniles, who were picked up with them, also were questioned by Sheriff Hays, but he said that since they had been placed on probation in Greene County, he planned to take no further action against them.

The five men now under indictment by the Greene County grand jury on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny are Guy Spurlock, 20; his brother, Wayne Spurlock, 18; Floyd Hodge, 22; Bill Hammon, 20, and Sherman Horsley, 31. All of them except Horsley live in or near Sabina. Horsley lives in James town.

Their arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Dan Aultman in Xenia was scheduled for Monday. The Spurlock brothers and Horsley were indicted on two counts of breaking and entering and two counts of grand larceny.

Hodge was indicted on one count of breaking and entering and one of grand larceny.

Hammond was indicted on one count of breaking and entering.

Open House Held After Remodeling

During the open house Saturday and Sunday afternoons, many people visited the newly remodeled colonial-type house at the northwest corner of North Fayette and East Market Sts. The house is owned by Trent Sickles.

The colonial restoration of the building was accomplished by using several kinds of wood to panel all of the rooms, which are, or will be business rooms, apartments or offices.

The various woods used in the finishing include sassafras, cottonwood, blackwalnut, chestnut and cherry.

Realtor Week Observance under Way Here; Cooperative Ads List Properties for Sale

This is Realtor Week in Washington C. H., in Fayette County and across the nation.

It has been so proclaimed by Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill and Washington, C. H.'s City Manager James F. Parkinson.

The Realtors of the community—the men who represent owners in the sale of real estate—have joined together to let the people here know just what their business is, how it is conducted, the principles which guide it and the service it provides for both seller and buyer.

There are 10 licensed Realtors in Washington C. H. who are members of the Tri-County Real Estate

Board (Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties). The Tri-County Board is an active organization, but its members here, while working in close cooperation, have only a loosely-knit organization.

LOCAL MEMBERS of the board are Loren P. Brackney, W. O. Bumgarner, Mac Dews Sr., Bob Lewis, Tom Mark, Ben F. Norris, Paul Pennington, Harold Sheridan, Charles Sheridan and Horatio Wilson.

They have planned nothing spectacular for their observance of Realtor Week. However, they have worked out a program which they believe will be even more effective in spotlighting their business than the thumping of tom toms.

All this week, they will run in the Record-Herald cooperative advertisements listing all the properties they have for sale. It will appear daily in the classified advertising section.

(Incidentally, this affords the people of this community an opportunity to look over all of the properties for sale... and an opportunity to get a bargain.)

THE PURPOSE of these cooperative advertisements, a spokesman for the Realtors said, is to emphasize the cooperation among the Realtors in selling real estate, whether it be a home, a farm, a lot for building, an industrial site or a business property.

At noon Monday the Realtors of the Washington C. H. organization met for lunch in the Hotel Washington coffee shop to discuss the many aspects of the real estate business and ways for improving the service the Realtors offer the people.

On the agenda, also, was the question of so-called "blight" areas, those sections in which neglected and tumble-down buildings predominate.

Members of the Realtor organization here explained that this group is one of hundreds throughout the nation which will attempt "to acquaint the public with the high professional services of the Realtors" during Realtor Week.

THEY POINTED OUT that when persons engaged in the real estate business are admitted to membership in the local Real Estate Boards and the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, they pledge themselves to observe the NAREB's strict code of ethics, which embodies these words: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them."

They cited four key pledges made by the Realtor:

(1) Learn all the pertinent facts about the property for which he accepts the agency so that in offering it he may fulfill his obligation to a "old error, exaggeration or misrepresentation;

(2) Protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation or unethical conduct in the real estate field by trying to prevent damaging practices and by cooperating with the state Real Estate Commission in enforcing proper procedure;

(3) Be well informed on current market conditions and be in a position to advise clients as to fair worth under the existing market;

(4) Attempt always to be informed regarding the law, proposed legislation, legal orders issued and essential facts and public policies which affect the interests placed in his hands by the public."

IN PROCLAIMING April 13 - 19 Realtor Week, City Manager Parkinson stressed "that the Tri-County Real Estate Board of which the Washington C. H. Realtors are a part" has contributed greatly to the growth and development of our community... that the Realtor has available to him the accumulated knowledge of 50 years of research and development in the real estate business... the Realtor fulfills obligations beyond those of ordinary commerce and dedicates himself to working by the Golden Rule... and the carrying out of these responsibilities is reflected in the "Build America Better" program through which Realtors continue to aid the nation's cities in varying on blight and slum conditions."

Gov. O'Neill followed another line in his commendation of the Realtors in his proclamation, in which he said in part: "Realtors, through selfless community service and business effort, have made lasting contributions to the wealth and development of this state... a wise, conscious, widespread home ownership brings stability and strength, Realtors have been successful in efforts to place property ownership within the reach of even more families."

Youth Temperance Week Recognized

Although there is no Youth Temperance Council in Fayette County now, the Women's Christian Temperance Union here is giving recognition to "Youth Temperance Education Week", April 13-20, Mrs. Urvin Edwards of Bloomingburg, president of the county WCTU, said Monday.

Mrs. Edwards noted that Ohio's Governor C. William O'Neill has proclaimed in part that "it is urgent that we cooperate as individuals and through schools, religious and other groups in spreading education and inspiration to our youth regarding the use of narcotics and intoxicants."

The governor also pointed out in his proclamation that "moral qualities of temperance and responsibility in our youth are of vital importance to the future security of our civilization... it is essential that we acknowledge youth's contributions to civic, government and welfare activities..."

SELL YOUR HOUSE
ONLY THROUGH A REALTOR

HE IS PLEDGED TO PROTECT YOUR INTERESTS

Don't take a chance on what may be the most important financial transaction your family may ever undertake! When it comes to real estate, the wisest decision you can make is to consult a broker entitled to call himself a REALTOR—one accepted for membership in the local real estate board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Why?

A Realtor knows today's market. He handles hundreds of similar transactions. He can get you a fair price, quick sale.

A Realtor has a list of prospects who are honestly interested in finding a home. He shows by appointment, eliminating the stream of casual lookers who otherwise would troop through your house.

A Realtor screens out the prospects who are financially unable to meet your price. No wasting valuable time showing your home to those unqualified to buy.

A Realtor is prepared to arrange the intricacies of financing to complete the deal.

A Realtor has the technique and "know how" necessary to close the transaction properly.
